DAVID PRATHER — Yankee Doodle Poetry

ART FORM: Theatre/Storytelling
STYLE: Contemporary CULTURE: North American

MEET THE ARTIST:

David Prather, a charismatic actor and author, has earned a Princeton education, as well as training at the American Conservatory Theatre in San Francisco, California. Combining all that he learned, he has utilized his experiences and knowledge to create original works for young audiences. Whether performing his school assembly programs in multi purpose rooms, or sharing the stage with Julie Andrews at Walt Disney Concert Hall, Mr. Prather uses improvisatory humor and wit to engage and entertain his audience. As “Cap’n Dave,” he delighted thousands over many years as the host of “Summer Sounds” at the Hollywood Bowl. He has performed with the L.A. Phil, the Pacific and San Francisco Symphonies, as well as at the Getty Center, the Skirball Cultural Center and other arts institutions. At The Music Center, he has performed Shakespeare at the Mark Taper and hosted concerts with the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

ABOUT THE PERFORMANCE:

Yankee Doodle Poetry is a lively, interactive performance featuring historical poems that reflect our nation’s foundational ideals. These poems include: “The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere,” “The Defense of Fort McHenry” and “The New Colossus.” Against the backdrop of a reproduction of the Great Garrison Flag, actor David Prather portrays several key historical American figures and symbols. These include: Uncle Sam, the Statue of Liberty, Francis Scott Key and Paul Revere. The show employs humor throughout and engages students both on stage, and in the audience. He cleverly turns historical events that inspired poems into theatre that brings the backstory and people of these events to life. The concepts of the promise of “life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness” are explored, taking on more meaning and understanding as his performance unfolds.

PREPARING FOR THE EXPERIENCE:

At the beginning of the performance, David appears as Uncle Sam - a popular symbol of the United States government in American culture and a manifestation of patriotic emotion since the early 19th century. Uncle Sam is mythological, rather than an actual person, but in this show he serves to introduce the overarching theme of the show which is the promise of “life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.”

The centerpiece of the show is Henry Wadsworth Longfellow’s epic narrative poem “The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere.” After giving a cursory background of the situation in Boston in 1775, students are employed in the performance as barking dogs, twittering birds, chiming clocks, horse’s hooves as well as Revere’s accomplice, Robert Newman. The entire poem comes to life with Mr. Prather in the saddle as Paul Revere making his stirring ride to wake up the minutemen at the start of the American Revolution. Literary devices such as alliteration, personification, and figurative language are discussed.

Next we see Francis Scott Key wanting to know if “that star-spangled banner yet waves” after a night of “bombs bursting in air” from his poem “The Defense of Fort McHenry.” The seldom-noted second stanza of the poem reveals the answer and gives the rest of the story. A conversation about the War of 1812, and the handmade flag with fifteen stars and stripes gives context to the creation of the song that continues to inspire our nation.

Later in the show, Mr. Prather appears as the Statue of Liberty in a humorous, but heartfelt, presentation of Lady Liberty. The statue was a gift from the French to honor the American centenary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. With torch aloft, he performs the inspiring words of the Emma Lazarus sonnet, “The New Colossus” which includes the iconic lines: “Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free...”
DISCUSSION QUESTIONS:

• The US flag, Uncle Sam and the Statue of Liberty are symbols of our country. What ideals do they represent?
• Who is Uncle Sam? What do you know about him?
• What is another name for the Statue of Liberty? (Lady Liberty)
• What is the difference between a narrative poem and a non-narrative poem?
• Why do we sing “The Star Spangled Banner” at sporting events?
• What places do you see the US flag flying every day?
• What does it mean to you to be an American?

FRAMEWORK FOCUS—HISTORY/SOCIAL STUDIES:

There is a plaque that is attached to the base of The Statue of Liberty that has the words of a poem, called “The New Colossus” by Emma Lazarus. The following is an excerpt of that poem

“Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!”

Read this excerpt as a class, then break into small groups to discuss. Make sure that the class identifies all of the words that they don’t understand. Look these words up and then discuss what the ideas in the poem mean. Share thoughts, building on each other’s ideas. Ask the class if they think that the poem is still true today—why or why not?

ACTIVITIES TO ENHANCE THE EXPERIENCE:

• The second paragraph of the Declaration of Independence states: “We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.” Historically, they were declaring their freedom from The King of England and British control. Think about the disadvantages of being under the rule of an established country and why people under this rule would want to declare independence. Discuss and share ideas.

★ David Prather presented the famous poem, “The Midnight Ride of Paul Revere,” by Henry Longfellow. One of the techniques used by the poet is to create a rhythmic word pattern that gives a feeling of a galloping horse. Read the last stanza of the poem to the students, then have a student, do a “call and response” for each line. Have the class repeat an alternating clapping pattern on the thighs to create a steady underlying rhythmic beat as the poem is performed. There will be a natural pause at the end of each line.

● Patriot, noun: a person who vigorously supports their country and is prepared to defend it against enemies or detractors. Think about what it means to be a patriot. Think of a situation where you would need to speak out or take unusual actions to support or defend your country. What might you say or do?

◆ Carefully observe the US flag in your classroom. Look at it in terms of its artistic design. Describe it in terms of its patterns, colors and their significance, and material. Give reasons why you think these choices were made. Research how the earlier US flags varied from the one we have today. What changed? What remained the same?

◆ Think about other things in life you can think of that are worth fighting for.
